

Grupo Catalana Occidente companies ensure the safety of their customers with free water repellent treatment

Customers who have taken out car insurance with glass cover from the companies Seguros Catalana Occidente, Plus Ultra Seguros and Seguros Bilbao will be able to benefit from this promotion until 30 November.

Rain can be an obstacle to safe driving, as it makes visibility difficult. In order to ensure the safety of its customers in this type of circumstances, the Grupo Catalana Occidente has launched a free water repellent treatment campaign.

Specifically, vehicles insured with glass cover from the companies Seguros Catalana Occidente, Plus Ultra Seguros and Seguros Bilbao will be able to request, at no cost, a water repellent treatment until 30 November. The service consists of applying a water repellent solution on the windscreen that increases visibility significantly when it rains.

The effect of this treatment lasts for approximately 12 months or 20,000 kilometres, depending on the weather conditions. In addition to increasing visibility, it protects the glass against build-ups of dirt, limescale, dust, and deposits and prevents the windshield from freezing.

The campaign is aimed at passenger cars, minivans, off-road vehicles and passenger vans for personal use. All details on the campaign are available on the companies' websites www.seguroscatalanaoccidente.com, www.plusultra.es and www.segurosbilbao.com

Tips for driving in the rain

Carrying out regular checks, keeping the glass and mirrors clean and applying suitable treatments on the windscreen wipers, are some recommendations from the General Traffic Directorate (DGT) for driving in the rain. Although it is also advisable to increase the safety distance; use the brakes gently to avoid skidding and be careful with puddles or pools of water due to the risk of aquaplaning.
